

About homework submission and evaluation.

The following rules are applied in the evaluation of homework submissions.

1. There must be one file in the submission (so please bind several pages into one file)
2. Pdf format of the submission is most preferable.
3. Low resolution files (difficult to read) will be graded 0 points
4. Late submission over email (after the deadline is over) is not acceptable and will not be graded.
5. Use of simple English (not symbols only) in commenting your answers is requested.
6. If a problem has numerical input data, the result of the solution must be in the numerical form.
7. Answers not clearly showing the process of solution and the reasoning will be graded 0 points.
8. To avoid cheating, absolutely identical (word for word, symbol for symbol) assignments will be graded 0 points, and the results will be reported to Student Affair Committee of the Administrative Office.

Note that cheating is strictly prohibited in Ritsumeikan University. If cheating is confirmed, the student(s) involved will fail all courses for which they have enrolled in the semester in which the cheating took place. In addition, students who are receiving any scholarships may have the scholarship cancelled and be required to refund scholarship money already received.
